Official ground-breaking New interchange expected to spur business, construction

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

With a decade long wait apparently over, the Romulus economy received a massive jump start into the 21st Century last week, as a unique private-public economic development project was kicked off with the aid of Gov. John Engler, shortly after the school district and city began what is hoped will become a "new era of co-operation."

The second portion of the team action occurred first (see related story) as the Romulus Community School District, the City Council and the local Tax Increment Financing Authority (TIFA) Board approved a settlement between the three parties and a suit against the TIFA board and the city by the school district was dropped.

But the bigger news flash was that Engler was appearing in Romulus on Friday to help celebrate the ground-breaking for the long awaited Vining Road-Interstate-94 interchange that hopefully will lead to massive economic development (Metro World) and heavy job creation in the western portion of Wayne County.

The $12 million interchange that will provide an alternate route to Detroit Metropolitan Airport and will be paid for through an innovative partnership between local and federal governments and private developers "can get the job done, better, faster and for less money," Engler stated proudly.

It is hoped the project can begin next spring and be completed in about two years, state transportation and city officials said. Approximately $5 million of the cost will be supplied by developers and local government, Engler said, while the remaining $7 million will be picked up by Federal Highway Administration.

Engler also announced "no state funds will be used" for this project.

"I'm proud that developers like the Ecclestone Organization and Hines Interests are working with the city of Romulus to make Metro World Centre a reality," Engler continued.

Metro World is a 700-acre planned community that is expected to include an office complex, sports facility, a conference center, discount shopping and residential development.

School district drops lawsuit

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

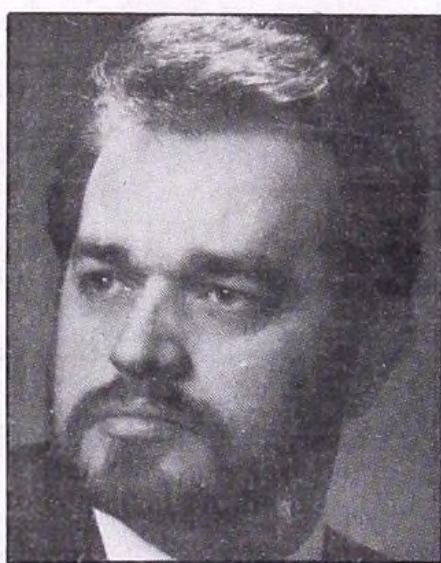

The Romulus Community School District has agreed to drop its lawsuit against the city, Treasurer James Napiorkowski and the Tax Increment Finance Authority (TIFA), in return for an upfront payment of $480,000 and a pledge that the city will not "capture" $90,000 in new school taxes during the years of 1994, 1995 and 1996.

The $90,000 (approximate figure) is based on the increased millage that will result if the Tuesday millage question was approved by the voters. A story on the success or failure of the school millage vote will appear in the Sunday Eagle and Enterprise.

Wayne County Circuit Court Chief Judge James Rashid developed the above agreement this summer, following the filing of the suit by the school district in 1992.

The eight-page document has been approved by the governing bodies and TIFA board and needs only now to be signed by City Treasurer James Napiorkowski to be-

Bite postpones murder trial

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The murder trial of a former Detroit pair, who are accused of killing a Lansing man and then dumping his body in Romulus, has been delayed until Oct. 10, reportedly because the male defendant had part of his nose bitten off while involved in a fracas at the Eaton County Jail, Eaton County Sheriff's detectives reported Friday.

The defendants, Lee McDuffie and Stephanie Fisher, formerly of Detroit, will be tried in connection with the stabbing death of Ronald Pasko, 30, of the Lansing area. Their trial originally was slated for late in August.

McDuffie reportedly is the person, who stabbed Mr. Pasko to death on April 13 of this year, Eaton County Sheriff's detectives said. His body was stripped of identification except for one small piece of paper that Romulus police were ultimately able to trace back to identify Mr. Pasko's body, local police reported.

Eaton County Sheriff's Detective Norman Kelley said that McDuffie and Mr. Pasko were former co-workers and the dispute that led to the murder had to do with a loan of money Pasko had made earlier to McDuffie.

The killing reportedly occurred in Mr. Pasko's apartment.

New owners take over newspaper

Sale of the newspaper chain with a more than 100-year history was completed Friday when Mike and Kathy Wilcox assumed ownership of Associated Newspapers from David and Susan Willett.

When turning over operation of Associated Newspapers to its new owners, David Willett, former president of the six-newspaper chain, said it was time to "pass the baton on to the next runner."

He compared the newspaper business, with its many opportunities and challenges, to a race - a race to meet deadlines as well as a race to survive in the competitive marketplace.

The six individual community newspapers will retain their names, but the publication will be called Michigan Community Newspapers.

Wilcox emphasized that he will continue the tradition of the six communities newspapers while introducing some innovations to build readership.

The new owner of the newspaper chain shares a similar background to the former owner. Both grew up in the newspaper business under the guidance of their fathers, and have many years of experience in the communications field.

Wilcox served as general manager of Associated Newspapers for a year before finalizing the purchase. He owned several other newspapers, including The Reminders in north Oakland County.

The Associated Newspapers mark their beginning with the founding of The Belleville Enter- prise in 1886. Thirty years later, the Enterprise was merged with the Romulus Roman as the Enterprise-Roman. After the publications were sold twice, Ray Clift and his partner, Lewis Robson, formed Associated Newspapers, Inc. purchasing The Wayne Eagle, The Inkster Ledger-Star and The Garden City Guardian.

In 1950, Wesley Willett, father of David Willett, joined Associated Newspapers first as general manager, then co-publisher and finally as a partner. The Eagle newspapers expanded into the separate publications for Wayne, Nankin (later Westland) and Canton.

The newspaper chain was sold to Panax Corp. in 1968, and after nine years, the newspaper conglomerate negotiated a deal to sell the newspapers to David Willett who has published the six newspapers since that time.

The Willetts will continue to operate Eagle Graphics, the production portion of the newspaper, from the same location.

Schools to observe King holiday

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
MCN Staff Writer

Students will no longer be required to take exams on the birthday of Martin Luther King, Jr., or attend school for that matter, according to an agreement reached between Wayne-Westland teachers and the Board of Education.

Wayne-Westland Schools will be observing the birthday of the slain civil rights leader by giving students the day off school. Some 13 percent of the schools 15,500 students are African-Americans.

"It's an issue which time has come," said Bill Reece, president of the Wayne-Westland Education Association. "He was a great man. We wanted to honor him."

Bargaining units for the teacher's union and board of education agreed to the calendar change which becomes effective during the 1995-96 school year. Reece said the calendar adjustment was not made this school year due to a lack of time.

"We did not agree to the calendar until late August," he said.

The nationally observed holiday is celebrated on the third Monday in January.

Wife, children help state candidate campaign

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The evolution of political campaigns has changed a great deal just in the past decade for 22nd District State Representative Gregory Pitoniak (D-Taylor), who now also represents residents and businesses in Romulus.

Pitoniak admits that in 1981, when he first ran for a city council seat in Taylor, he personally knocked on 4,300 doors to meet potential voters and introduce his political agenda.

But such practices become time consuming for incumbents, Pitoniak said, as legislative sessions are becoming longer and longer.

In addition to your family, Pitoniak said, as you seek higher office you need to cultivate more volunteers to reach an ever growing voter district.

"My wife, Denise, has always been supportive of my political lifestyle. In fact, days before we got married, I was busy working on the campaign of a man seeking the Taylor mayor's seat," Pitoniak said.

"Since then my two children, Gregory, 11, and Mallory, 7, have gotten involved in the political process," he continued. "Both have been busy handing out political brochures and each visited Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Howard Wolpe and U.S. Senators Donald Riegle and Carl Levin at the party convention in Flint last weekend.

"Ironically, my son will be using the experience as the basis for his school's current events write-up this week," Pitoniak said.

Two years ago, Pitoniak's state representative district was switched to include Romulus, so his campaign changed again.

"At that time we had a limited Romulus connection, so it was important to get to know city leaders and residents and learn what problems were being faced here that are different than those in Taylor," he said.

Pitoniak found it helps when he and his entire family can come to Romulus for such events as the Romulus Festival and the 4th of July Fireworks.

"My children enjoy interacting with Romulus residents both young and old," Pitoniak said. "They enjoyed helping their father pass out American flags to city residents prior to the fireworks display this year."

Pitoniak sponsors a senior citizen breakfast each year at which time he discusses local issues and recently spoke at city council and Kiwanis Club meetings.

On Tuesday he appeared before the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, where he spoke on tax issues and how they affect Romulus residents since the passage of Proposal A.

Pitoniak feels he is becoming more and more a part of Romulus life, as "this year I have had four to five times as many requests for yard signs. In addition, more and more volunteers are agreeing to work on my behalf in both the primary and general election campaigns."

Pitoniak, who claims to run low-key, low pressure, low cost campaigns, serves as his own campaign manager.

Editor's note: This is part of a continuing series of reports on local campaigns. All of the area candidates will be featured prior to the general election.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Meal volunteers needed now

Meal delivery volunteers for the two city senior citizen towers are now needed, Senior Center director Marilyn Hoffer said last Thursday.

The volunteers need only to donate about an hour a day to pick up about 80 hot meals at the Romulus Senior Center on Bibbins Street and deposit them at the nearby Romulus Towers and Whispering Willows housing units.

Other volunteers at both of those housing sites will then distribute the food to the residents, Hoffer explained.

Free craft lessons planned

A free Craft Lesson Night for local women is slated for Oct. 10 at the Romulus Wesleyan Church on Goddard Road.

The two-hour session will begin at 7 p.m. and will be taught by Lois Parker. A key craft lesson will be how to decorate a plain burlap door mat with various strips of material.

A sample of the finished product can be seen at the church, located next to Kennedy Park.

school district by no later than Sept. 30, 1994.

The local school board was suing to block the city from capturing school taxes for use in TIFA projects, claiming money surrendered by taxpayers for educational purposes should not legally be used for community projects such as roadways.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell reported the pact could "begin a new era of relationships between the school district and the city."

Mayor Beverly McAnally said, "It's always good to put pressure and something this negative behind us. The pocketbook belongs to the people. I only wish the school district would have accepted this 14 months ago."

Romulus Community Development Director Jane Downing expressed hope that the agreement will help establish funding that will lead to local students being trained to fill jobs that will be created soon in Romulus, so that they can remain in the city long after graduation.

Prayers offered

St. Aloysius Catholic Church temporary parochial administrator the Rev. Gerard Cupple is shown holding a paten in the midst of a Triumph of the Cross Mass last week. The Mass was celebrated with students from the parochial school. Father Cupple has been assigned to the Romulus church during the recuperation period of Father Michael D. Malawy, 39, who suffered a severe heart attack on Aug. 23. Malawy, supported by the prayers of local residents, reportedly is making steady progress in his recovery, a parish spokeswoman said. Kids' bids seeking $200,000

It's an event which was a huge success last year, and organizers are working on making the "Bids For Kids II" fund-raising benefit even better for the celebration this year.

The Bids for Kids II extravaganza is scheduled for 6 p.m. Oct. 14 at the Holiday Inn Crowne Plaza in Romulus. Activities will include dinner and an auction of items and services donated by local merchants and professionals.

"Last year we raised $151,000, and it did a lot of good for kids in the community," said Tom Daily, chairman of Bids for Kids II. "This year we're eager to do even better so we're aiming for $200,000."

Funds from 1993 event paid for community immunization and prenatal programs. Three immunization clinics recently took place in conjunction with the Wayne-Westland School District, Annapolis Hospital, Annapolis Hospital Westland Center and the Oakwood Family Medical Center-Westland, offering shots free of charge to students.

Other projects funded by the gala included transportation for prenatal care patients, and an early childhood wellness project.

This year, funds gathered from the Bids for Kids II project are targeted for prevention and treatment of injuries incurred by children.

According to Carla O'Malley, senior vice president and chief operating officer at Annapolis Hospital, unintentional injuries are the leading killer of children. Most of the injuries among children one to 14 years old are caused by traffic accidents, which accounts for 3,200 deaths in children, followed closely by drowning, fires, poison, firearms and falls.

"Children are a very important part of the community, and we are pleased to be able to hold this event to provide such needed services," said Ted Martin, chairman of the Annapolis Board of Trustees.

Prevention efforts will focus on education.

One of the questions asked Jamie was "Who would you like to be for a day?"

Jamie revealed she would like to be a movie star for a day, "so I could see what it would be like to be famous."

A beaming Mayor Beverly McAnally had high praise for many partners in the venture, who "shared our vision for this most innovative world class development that will create thousands of jobs and provide a new entryway to Metro Airport."

The Metro World Centre has been the long-held dream of McAnally, City Council members and other local officials, as well as E. Liwyd Ecclestone Jr., chairman of The Ecclestone Organization.

Ecclestone declared "we're ready for takeoff. The Metro World Centre is advantage of the natural benefits of Metro Airport, the crossroads location of Romulus and the vision of state, county and especially local leaders to create value and jobs for all of Southeast Michigan."

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Ypsilanti) was unable to attend the ceremony, but forwarded the following statement, "Breaking ground on the Vining Road interchange is the final step in a 10-year journey for us. I am pleased that we were able to convince the Federal Highway Administration of the importance of this project and to push it through the regulatory process. It's been a tough team effort that has made this day possible."

Among the projects, Eccleplanned for the 700 acre development area are:

- Crews Landing--A planned living complex for crews of airlines based out of Metro Airport, with short and semi-extended two and three bedroom suites typical of luxury hotels, grocery and retail outlets, a health club and office space.
- Hoop World USA--A 50-acre project putting 20 basketball courts under a single roof and 30 outdoor courts. The facility will also have a 5,000 seat main court that could be used for concerts, tennis, volleyball and other small arena-type events.
- Convention Center--Romulus and a private development company are putting together plans for a conference center that will allow medium-sized groups to organize meetings that can take advantage of the transportation options around Metro Airport.

- Retail Mall--A major discount mall operator is discussing possible location in the Metro World Centre project, bringing dozens of well-known retailers to the area allowing new shopping opportunities for local residents and for those changing flights at Metro Airport.
- Office Complex--Initial plans call for a six-story 120,000 square foot office building since proximity to Metro Airport is critical to many businesses, who use the facility to move executives and materials in and out of the region.

Residents affected by electrical rewiring project are notified

As the Detroit Edison-Glenwood Heights subdivision re-wiring project gets underway, residents affected are being told they can contact Edison officials with any immediate concerns.

Gary Clark, Wayne Department of Public Works (DPW) director, updated council members on the most recent meeting with the Glenwood Heights Homeowners Association.

"I have met with Charlotte (Charlie) Mahoney, regional manager, and Mike Palchesko, government account executive of Detroit Edison, regarding the Glenwood Heights electrical project," Clark said. "The three of us along with Sharon Felan, Glenwood Heights Homeowners Association president, agree that it would be in the best interests of the residents in the subdivision, that residents contact Charlie Mahoney and set up an appointment with Detroit Edison if there are any concerns regarding Edison's electrical project."

Clark said as of Aug. 31 eight residents have talked with Mahoney about how the project would affect their homes.

Last month council members expressed their concerns about the re-wiring project as to how it was going to be handled by Detroit Edison officials.

Council members did not want the same mishaps from the tree-trimming project to reoccur.

Clark informed the council that a letter was going to be delivered to Glenwood Heights homeowners informing them of the project.

The re-wiring plan calls for a new below ground circuit to be installed with above ground transformers which will be located at the rear of the homes.

"The reason for re-wiring this entire circuit is the existing below ground wiring and below ground transformers are aging and cause frequent problems with service throughout the neighborhood," Clark said.

The work is expected to be done in two phases, according to Clark.

The project is now in progress and is expected to be completed by March 1995.

Man accused of sexual assault

Deputy News Editor

A Sept. 21 arraignment on information was scheduled for a Wayne man charged with three counts of third-degree criminal sexual conduct in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Albert Elieo was arrested by Wayne police for allegedly sexually assaulting a Detroit woman at the Parkland Motel where he is residing, according to Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews.

"He took the lady to the motel room where the incident took place," Drews said. "He has an extensive criminal record for this type of charge."

Elieo appeared for an examination Sept. 14 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

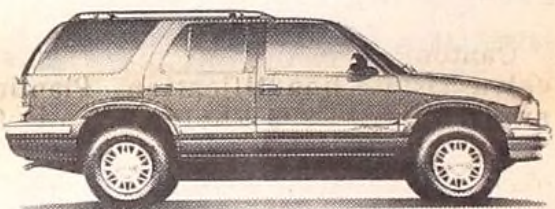

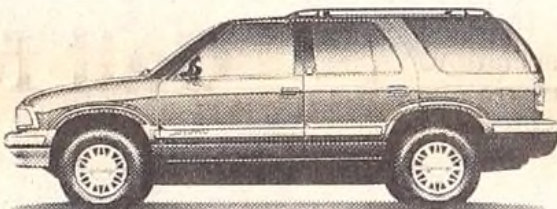

[ALL THOSE TIRED OF CLIMBING IN AND OUT OF A TRUCK, STEP RIGHT UP.]

Getting in and out of a sport utility vehicle can be an adventure. That's why we created the all-new Jimmy from GMC Truck. One of the first things you'll notice is a lower step-in height. This was achieved without sacrificing ground clearance - an engineering breakthrough. Of course, Jimmy still comes with all the strength and reliability of a GMC truck. Like a boxed frame for improved riding comfort, Insta-Trac® 4WD, and as standard equipment, the Enhanced 4.3L, 195 hp V6 engine - one of the most powerful in its class. Not to mention a remarkably quiet interior, and other sport utility firsts - like a choice of suspensions.

For safety, there's a standard driver's side air bag*, four-wheel antilock brakes, and steel reinforced side door beams. For more information call: 1-800-GMC-TRUCK. Or better yet visit a GMC Truck dealer for a test drive.

Family man seeks 12th District Wayne County position

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Politics is a family affair for Bhagwan Dashairya. And the 55-year-old Westland financial consultant believes it "is the family that will get him elected to office."

"There is a breakdown in the family and family values," said Dashairya, who is seeking to become the next Wayne County Commissioner from the 12th District.

The district includes Westland, Garden City and Inkster and the seat is presently occupied by longtime legislator Kay Beard.

"I believe we must stress and work toward reestablishing family values and, if elected that will be my goal. If the family is restored we will do away with crime and drugs, and do I have to say how much of the county budget and national budget are devoted to fight crime?"

"Congress has just signed the Crime Bill that will make $13 billion available to fight crime. Just think what we can do with this money if there was no crime and drugs."

Dashairya and his wife, Umil, have three children:

Kiran, 11, Rajiv, 12, and Deepak.

Depak says he believes his father will win the election because "he is a good and honest leader."

"And he will be good for the community."

Kiran says she is proud of her father, and "will help do everything to get him elected. And I won't bother him so much."

A native of India where he was awarded a degree in mechanical engineering, Dashairya joined the Republican Party which, he believes, is closest to his beliefs on government.

"I believe in less government - look at how the county salaries have grown over the years. This must be stopped, and when I am elected I will make sure it does."

"And, because these people have been in office for so long, they have forgotten who they Bhagwan Dashairya should serve. An elected official is a servant of the people. Those in county government today just think on how much more they can raise their own salaries.

"That's why they will elect me. I am sure of that."

Editor's note: This is one of a continuing series of articles on candidates' campaigns. All of the local candidates will be featured prior to the November general election.

Influenza shots are available in many communities

Senior citizens, individuals with certain chronic conditions and others who want to be immunized against influenza may obtain shots through the Wayne County Health Department.

The health department will offer a trivalent (three virus) split virus vaccine for individuals with chronic conditions, to all citizens 65 and older and to others who wish to protect themselves from the influenza disease.

The typical influenza season runs from November through April, but the maximum protection provided by the vaccine occurs when it is given early before the flu seasons starts.

"Each year in the United States during the influenza season, there are thousands of deaths among people who are considered to be susceptible to the disease and its complications. In fact, the majority of deaths that have occurred in recent years during the influenza season have been among persons 65 years of age and older," said Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, medical director for the Wayne County Health Department.

He urged individuals with cardiovascular, pulmonary and/or penal system disorders and those with diabetes mellitus, severe anemia and those who impaired immune functions to obtain flu shots before the season begins.

There is a $2 donation, but indigent citizens may receive a waiver of the charge.

The following vaccination clinics are open:

appointment.

- September Days Senior Center, Quirk School, 46270 Ayres, Belleville, 1 to 3:30 p.m. Nov. 4. Call for appointment.
- Ford Senior Center, 6750 Troy, Taylor, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Sept. 29. Call for appointment.

Township to receive award

Canton Township will receive a state beautification award for its 1993 Sheldon Road Tree Planting project, according to Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc.

A "Distinguished Service Plaque" will be presented to Canton during an awards banquet at the state organization's October 6-7 Annual Conference in Alpena. The award will also be promoted through the organization's fall "KMB News."

The Sheldon Road Tree Planting program was done as part of Canton's Master Beautification Plan. The $74,000 cost was funded by a Small Business Administration/Natural Resources Development Program grant, with matching funds coming from the township. Ornamental and shade trees were planted along a four-mile stretch of Sheldon from Joy Road south in the Wayne County road right-of-way. As part of the process, homeowner associations and several businesses along Sheldon Road were contacted and asked to water and maintain the trees after the warranty period for the trees expires. Placement of the trees was based on these agreements.

Nomination for the award was done through the Canton Landscape Architect's office at the request of Canton's Beautification Committee.

Introductions are in order for new owners

Let me introduce myself. I'm Mike Wilcox. My wife, Kathy, and I are owners of Michigan Community Newspapers, which last weekend completed the purchase of Associated Newspapers.

In other words, we're the new guys. In many respects, however, we are "old guys." We have owned a variety of newspapers, including The REMINDERS in North Oakland County for several years. I grew up with printers' ink on my hands and never seem to wash them clean. For the past year, many of you might recognize me as general manager of Associated Newspapers. In that capacity I ran the business side of the newspapers, essentially ensuring that there was enough money in the bank to pay the newspapers' considerable expenses.

Let me introduce Michigan Community Newspapers. Michigan Community Newspapers (MCN) is the new corporate entity. In many respects, however, the "guts" of the operation, the newspapers (The Wayne Eagle, The Westland Eagle, The Canton Eagle, The Belleville Enterprise, The Inkster Ledger-Star and The Romulus Roman) are the same and will remain so.

These newspapers (some for more than 100 years) have a stellar tradition of providing news and services to their devoted readers. Our focus will be to continue that tradition while introducing innovations along the way to entice non-readers to join the MCN family.

Let me introduce the MCN staff. You probably remember them as the Associated Newspapers staff. The same professionals that wrote an article about your sister's wedding, or delivered a newspaper to your doorstep, will be a part of the MCN team. Yes there will be a few additions, but for the most part the Associated staff will be the MCN staff.

If there's a point to this column, I guess it could be summarized by the popular proverb, "The more things change, the more they stay the same. MCN intends to continue to carry the torch of tradition and excellence. MCN will continue to serve its readers, and hopefully even add a couple of thousand new subscribers. MCN will work extremely hard to be a good business neighbor and impart a philosophy that champions the cause of improving our communities.

In closing, I would encourage you to tell us what you think we should be doing to make your newspaper more useful. After all, in name, my wife and I are owners, but in reality it is our readers that are the true owners of this newspaper. Tell us what you want and we'll do our best to make it happen.

I would be remiss if I failed to extend my appreciation to Dave and Susan Willett, the owners of Associated Newspaper for the past 18 years. They have made these newspaper their lives for that span and have put more heart and soul into this endeavor than anyone could ever imagine.

Dave is the consummate visionary. His direction rocketed Associated through some very tough economic times. He knew the value of branching out into peripheral businesses like cable television and shopping guides that helped feed the core businesses, the newspapers. He too grew up in the newspaper business and his experience at the Detroit Free Press and Panax was invaluable to the well being of Associated. A man with a heart of gold, Dave has devoted his life to serving the western Wayne area, and we all are better off because of his efforts.

Susan made Dave's dreams real. She created a top-notch editorial staff. She operated most aspects of the business. Her quick wit and sarcastic writing style earned her cheers and jeers each and every day. She is a problem solver and will leave an extremely dedicated and loyal staff of employees behind because Susan was the catalyst behind all that was good with Associated Newspapers.

By the way, the Willetts will continue to be in business at 35540 Michigan Avenue where they will continue to own Eagle Graphics, a typesetting and production facility.

Writer claims mischief afoot

To the editor:
While the cat is away the mice will play! During the past summer while you were away on vacation the Michigan legislature performed several shenanigans to undermine Proposal A. They dismantled several tax savings provisions which had been guaranteed to the taxpayers in March.

Proposal A capped intermediate school district millages at 1993 levels but the Michigan Education Association (MEA) pressured our legislature to change that provision. Of course they caved in to the MEA and approved legislation to increase mills for intermediate school districts.

How can we trust the politicians who promised tax cuts but then quietly sneaked in tax increases while their constituents were unaware of the mischief? Why do they violate their promises?

Proposal A guaranteed bonding mills would only be used for major construction. You can imagine the MEA and school superintendents pressured the legislature to change that provision. They again demonstrated their "Jello" nerves of clay and approve legislation so that bonding mills may be used for minor repairs and the acquisition of equipment. This nefarious behind-the-door approach is the exact opposite of what we were promised in Proposal A!

Apparently we should be content with the huge property tax cuts we received this summer. Moreover we should never expect the politicians to keep their word and deliver the reforms approved by the voters in Proposal A. That would be too much to request from the hypocrites in Lansing!

Schools labeled 'monopolies'

To the editor:
As the Wayne-Westland schools descend into yet another self-inflicted insolvency crisis - I have just one thing to say, "See, I told you so."

The public schools are really the last bastion of "wretched excess" in a larger economy that has learned to do more with less. Our private sector industries are "lean and mean" and globally competitive thanks to tough reforms imposed on them by the free market system.

The public schools do not operate in a free market system. They are a monopoly. And monopolies are never very competitive or efficient. Any monopoly will ultimately degenerate to the point where the protection of the monopolists takes precedence over service to the customers. That's where public education is today.

Along with other informed members of this community, I have tried everything to get the school board to be reasonable in their taxing and spending policies. When reason failed - I tried shaming them into doing the right thing, ("It's the salaries, stupid!"). Nothing worked.

Virtually no one is satisfied with public education today. From parents and politicians to top corporate executives and small business employers -- everyone feels that public education is failing. Only the teachers' union and their apologists want to perpetuate the old system, which has rewarded them so generously.

The Wayne-Westland school board should deliver the teachers' union the following ultimatum -- either re-open the labor contract for needed concessions to balance the budget, or the entire school board will resign in mass! The teachers' union needs to be "shocked" into reality -- it's the only way!

If the education monopoly wants to save anything from the "old" system they must be willing to compromise and lessen their demands on our struggling public taxpayers. Failure to compromise lead to the abolition of the old property tax system. Continued stubbornness will threaten the entire "local public school" concept itself! (If school boards can not function -- why have them?)

Clearly, it is the teachers' union that will eventually destroy the "goose that laid the golden egg." So, if the current system of local public education is ultimately destroyed by stubbornness and greed -- the education monopolists will have only themselves to blame.

Residents thank Wayne Rotary

To the editor:
We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Wayne Rotary Club for the very enjoyable evening they created on July 20th at Rotary Park (formerly Hunt Park).

Although the temperature and humidity were high, they provided hot dogs, pop, chips and candy to the participants free. It was nice to see neighbors and families able to get together for some old-fashioned fun.

These people have certainly lived up to their motto "Service Above Self." Thank you, Rotarians!

Residents of Hunt Street

Clean-up idea

To the editor:
So the police are holding one of the gang members, Andrew Zopff, and looking for five others.

The business people are asked to clean up the graffiti and destruction of property so it doesn't spread further.

How about getting Zopff to start the cleaning up, and his friends, even if you have to get a couple of guards from the Army to stand guard while they clean up the mess. They messed it up, they should clean it up and do time. They also could pay for the damages.

Wayne, Belleville win big, stretch winning streaks to 3 games

Zebras face tough foe in Monroe

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Looking more like the title contender that Mega Conference coaches believe Wayne is, coach Chuck Howton's Zebras crushed Lincoln Park 34-6 Friday night on the home turf to remain undefeated in their three football starts this year.

The victory also cleared the path for Wayne to challenge also undefeated Monroe, a 14-0 winner last week over Fordson, the defending conference and Class AA state champs.

The two unbeaten clubs will meet Friday night, again on Wayne turf.

But hovering over the two title hopefuls is a powerful Belleville, which humiliated

Wyandotte, 55-0, and is now considered the class of the conference this year.

Howton however says he is not too concerned about Belleville at this point of the season. (The two will meet for a rare Saturday encounter on Oct. 15). He says that his and his staff's primary concern this week is to stop a strong Monroe team that "can throw several weapons into the battle field."

"Monroe has an excellent

Lincoln Park next for wild Tigers

An amazing Belleville took its thrilling football show to Wyandotte Friday night, and it didn't take long for coach Bob LaPointe's Tigers to convince the once mighty Bears who is the best in the Mega Conference this year.

Backed by a spectacular individual performance by Chris Cannon, Belleville overwhelmed its Mega Conference rivals, 55-0.

Canon accounted for two touchdowns and rushed for 157 of the Tigers' record-shattering 490 yards.

The Tigers' total performance also caught LaPointe by surprise.

"It was amazing," LaPointe said. "We went into this concerned about their (Wyandotte's) size and strength. It was just an unbelievable effort."

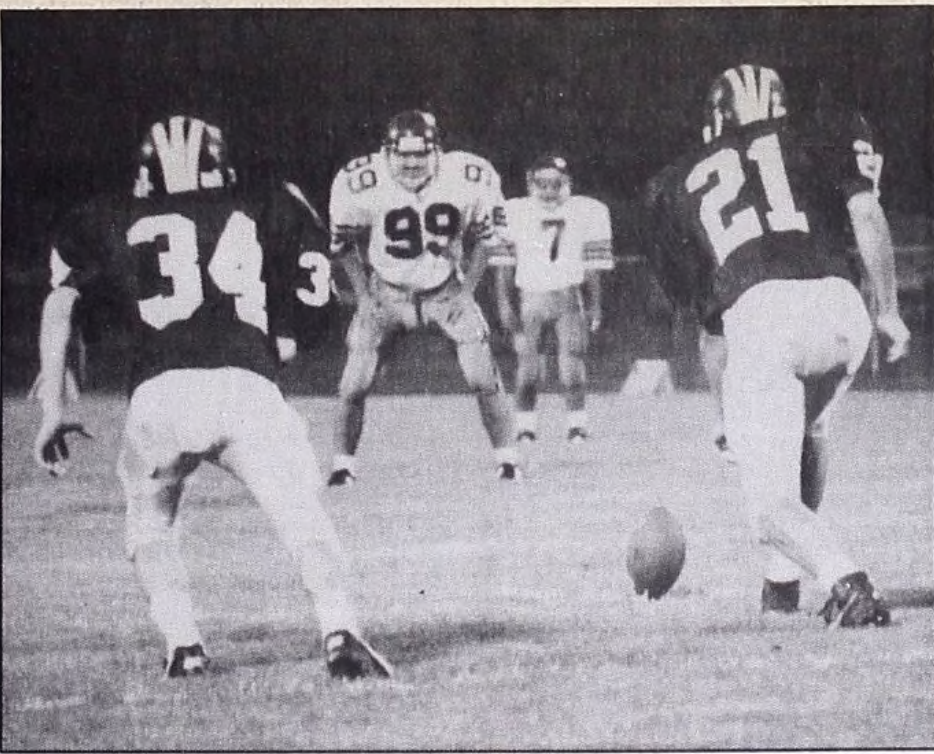

The Tigers are also on the road this week. They will face Lincoln Park, a team that has gotten off to a 0-2 conference, 1-2 overall start this year. The Railsplitters were routed by Wayne 34-6 last week.

"I really don't know what happened to them (Lincoln Park) against Wayne," La-

Rocks let one slip away

Farmington sinks Salem in 2nd half

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It was the best Farmington football team that Plymouth-Salem coach Tom Moshimer has seen in his 28 years as a coach.

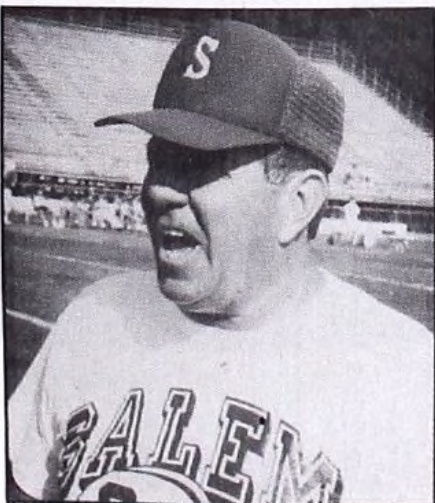

But it was also a Farmington team that Moshimer and the Rocks allow to the slip away, 13-6.

The Saturday afternoon loss dipped Salem's record to 1-2 on the year.

And, with undefeated and state-ranked Livonia Stevenson next on the Rocks' schedule, you can bet that Moshimer will have to regroup his cadre of players to get ready for the big divisional showdown.

"Stevenson was the coaches' pre-season pick to win the division," said Moshimer, "and so far there has been nothing to show otherwise. They are a tough and well-coached team."

Moshimer believes a flawless game by his team would give them a shot at the Spartans.

Streit beating the defense around the right end on a deceptive keeper.

Earlier, running back Jake Siskosky put the Falcons on the scoreboard. He continued to play havoc with the Salem defense, finishing with 105 yards on 23 rushes to go along with his touchdowns.

Salem had ample opportunities to tie and win this one. The Rocks threatened on at least three separate times, but the threats dissipated it.

"We were either stopped by penalties or by our own mistakes," Moshimer said. "When you're down deep in their territory, you should come back with something. We didn't get the job done."

In the meantime, Plymouth-Canton broke its modest two-game losing streak, burying Livonia Franklin 44-13 Friday night. The victory moved the Chiefs to the top of the Western Lakes, Western Division.

Coach Robert Khoenle received exceptional performances from senior running back Len Gardner and quarterback Brett Elledge who the Patriots failed to stop.

The Elledge-to-Gardner pass-combination accounted for three of the Chiefs' touchdowns.

Rockets break the victory barrier

After two unsuccessful and frustrating attempts, the Westland John Glenn Rockets broke the victory barrier on their third attempt.

Coach Chuck Gordon and his Rockets Friday night edged North Farmington, 7-6, and their initial victory of the 1994 campaign lifted them to the top of the Western Lakes (Lake Division) standings.

And to stay atop of the division, Glenn must stop Walled Lake Central Friday night.

Not only will the Westlanders be on familiar turf for the third consecutive week, they have also designated the Central game as "Parents' Night".

North Farmington went broke after scoring late in the fourth quarter. Instead of going for the tie and forcing the issue into an overtime, the Falcons opted for the two-pointer and fell inches short as Mike Brown came up with a game-saving tackle.

It was Brown who gave the Rockets their only touchdown of the game when he pounced on a North Farmington fumble in the end zone with 4:38 left in the third quarter.

Kicker Brian Kolb put the ball through the uprights for the point-after, a point that proved crucial at the end.

Glenn's offense apparently remains troubled as the Rockets don't seem to be able to solve their problems. They have scored only two TDs in 12 quarters and one of those was by the defense.

Quarterback James Hagelthorn failed to complete any of his eight passes.

Fullback Michael Kidder, who played an outstanding game in the secondary, rushed for 97 yards on 19 carries.

Richard Michalik

Golfer's best shot bags double eagle

A 61-year-old Inkster golfer came up with his best shot - drive, that is - and bagged a double eagle.

Richard Michalik, golfing at the Mission Hills Golf Course in Plymouth, carded the double eagle on the Par 5, 550-yard third hole en route to a 38 on the front nine. He scored a 41 on the back nine for a 79.

There are not many local golfers who can boast that achievement.

Belleville runners pick up 4 medals

Although they finished in the middle of the pack, Belleville harriers returned Saturday from the New Boston Huron cross country invitational with four medals.

Tammy Pietrowski and Jamie Koren finished among the leaders for the Belleville women's team, while Brian Mockridge and Evan Ring were among the medalists in the men's division.

"I was very pleased with our team's efforts," said Belleville coach Sam Vicchy, whose team finished fifth in the women's division. "We ran an aggressive race."

Sylvania Southview, a team out of Ohio, captured the team trophy with 38 points. Monroe, a Michigan powerhouse, was one-point behind and finished with the second-place trophy.

The two leaders were followed in the final standings by North Farmington (87), Farmington Harrison (141) and Belleville (145) in a field of some 14 competing teams.

Pietrowski, who was the first to finish from the Belleville delegation, was clocked with the eighth-best time of 20:48. Southview produced the invitational's individual winner in Marla Finch who covered the 5-kilometers in 19 minutes flat.

Koren managed to cash in her 21:59 performance for a 22nd-place finish, good for the second Tiger medal.

Other Belleville runners whose scores counted included: Milissa Ackron, 32nd (22:49); Katie Ackron, a ninth grader who ran a 23:34 for 41st place; Amy Pokerwinski, 42nd (23:34); Nicole Grady, 53rd (25:05) and Gretchen Troutman, 58th (27:32).

Vicchy will take his team to Edsel Ford today for a Mega Conference meet and, on Saturday, they will compete in the Monroe Jefferson Invitational.

Monroe, a state title-contender, captured top honors in the men's division as the Trojans beat another Ohio team, St. John's, for the title, 41-57.

Wyandotte finished third (111), followed by Sylvania (121), Dearborn Fordson (132), North Farmington (152), Farmington Hills Harrison (168), Belleville (192), Woodhaven (224), Lincoln Park (301), Romulus (365), and Taylor Kennedy (388).

Wayne will host the 7:30 p.m. conference game.

Wayne wasted little time convincing visiting Lincoln Park that the Parkers were no match for them this year. Striking for two touchdowns in the first quarter and adding a third in the second, Wayne coasted to the easy victory.

Wayne senior running back Stan Stevenson, who scored three touchdowns, led the Zebra offense. He piled up 149 yards on 22 attempts.

But it was a drive shortly after the initial kickoff that put Wayne on the scoreboard. Quarterback Lorenzo Guess and Ken Riley teamed up on a 12-yard TD pass that gave the Zebbras a 6-0 lead and, after Aaron Bates booted the extra point, Wayne had a 7-0 lead with 9:14 showing on the scoreboard.

Stevenson got his first TD of the evening with 23 seconds left in the opening quarter. He scampered off tackle for 13 yards into the LP end zone. His Pointe said. "But, we saw them play earlier this year and they looked good. Believe me, we are not taking them - or anyone in this league - lightly."

Belleville put the Bears away early. On the third play from scrimmage in the first quarter, Cannon broke loose on a 72-yard touchdown run.

Seconds later, Eric Harrison kicked his first of seven point-after.

The Tigers turned it into a 14-0 game shortly after an exchange of punts as quarterback Nate Lewis culminated a 61-yard drive with a 20-yard touchdown run, with Harrison converting.

Belleville continued its relentless pressure on the Bears who failed to mount any sort of serious threat. The Tigers came back in the second quarter with a pair of touchdowns with fullback Mike Williams finding the crease from the 18 yard line and then Lewis coming back with an option play that netted the Tigers' their fourth score, a 14-yarder by Lewis.

Running back Ian Gold and Cannon also scored in the third quarter. Gold scored from three-yards out, while Cannon chalked up his third with a 29-yard run, that turned it into a 42-0 rout.

The Tigers completed the scoring with a 15-yard TD by Joe Manuel and Jodey Minor scored on a dazzling 70-yard run.

The Belleville victory may have cost the Tigers the services of Jeremy Gold, their strong safety and wingback. He sustained a shoulder injury.

"We don't know what his status is at this point," LaPointe said. "The docs are looking at him."

TD also capped a midfield drive.

Bates missed the PAT, and Wayne now had a 13-0 lead.

Lincoln Park managed to keep Wayne off the scoreboard until the closing seconds before the intermission. Then, again, it was Stevenson who lit up the boards, this time with a two-yard plunge that was set up with a bad LP punt.

A 5-yard touchdown run by Stevenson and a Guess-to-Richard Rashad pass that covered 21 yards accounted for the Zebbras' two second-half touchdowns.

Guess was on target with six of his 13 passes for 87 yards and two touchdowns.

Running back Corey McClelland also chipped in 32 yards on seven attempts.

Westland captures Great Lakes division slow-pitch 'B' crown

It was the proverbial frosting on a cake to an outstanding softball season.

J & K Transportation, a team out of Westland, breezed to seven consecutive victories to win the coveted 1994 United States Slo-Pitch Softball Association Men's Great Lakes Division "B" Championship.

The field included teams representing the states of Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Illinois and Michigan.

"This was a big victory for our team," noted Larry Quartuccio, team manager. "With over 100,000 teams participating nationwide in the program, the field is now reduced to 32 teams. And we are one of those 32."

The World Series of softball will be played during the weekend of Sept. 24-25 in Garland, Texas, and this will be Westland's first appearance at the nationals.

En route to the divisional championship, J & K Transportation erased the Illinois state champ, Home Run Inn, 18-3, thanks to the three-hit pitching of Scott Nastally.

Subsequently, the local slow-pitch champ turned back Wisconsin, 9-3, and also dumped Straight Lamp out of Kentucky, 12-1.

Westland's toughest test came in the semifinals where they clashed with an old nemesis, Superior Sports from Livonia. Superior had defeated J & K for the 1994 Leonard J. Anderson Invitational Title.

And it looked as if Livonia would repeat. They had an eight-run lead in the bottom of the seventh before J & K turned the tide with a nine-run burst that lifted them to a 17-16 victory.

The key to the victory was Mike Simonds' three-run home run.

Named to the all-tournament team from J & K were Nastally, who was the tourney's Most Valuable Player; Wade Evans, Greg Tome, Scott Janack and Al Ferrell.

In the meantime, Mark Lipinski was named the All-Tournament Defensive Player.

'One LIFE O N E

AREA MUSICIAN LAUNCHES ROMANCE ALBUM, INTRODUCES NEW PARTNER

Inspired by a new love and new outlook on life, Canton Township musician Terry Bolton is preparing to launch his second album.

This time, however, the main theme of his unique music selection is romance.

Bolton, who has his studio in Wayne, now has a singing partner who just happens to be his fiancée Maria Ertl.

"We met when I was performing one night at a club," Bolton said. "I guess you could say it was love at first sight."

Ertl is also a Canton Township resident. She said she has been singing for at least 10 years and feels very fortunate to have met Bolton.

"Recording is something I always wanted to do, but I never had the opportunity before," Ertl said. "I've been in a few talent shows and performed at a Madonna convention."

Ertl said she enjoys singing a wide variety of music but she favors ballads.

"I would say my favorite performer/singer is Madonna," Ertl said. "I just love how she presents herself. She has a lot of energy and creativity."

Bolton has created 10 original songs on the new album One Life, One Love with Ertl harmonizing on each new selection. Titles on the new album include: "Cry," "Misunderstood" and "Just Can't Get It Back".

Bolton not only sings, but he is also his own one-man-band playing all of the instruments in the album including drums, keyboard and bass guitar.

The talented performer has been writing songs since he was in junior high school.

"I've written more than 500 songs," Bolton said. "I don't record them all. I have to really be in love with the songs in order to spend the amount of time it takes to record them."

Bolton has played professionally with a band called "PUSH." In 1985 he and his band toured the U.S. with celebrity groups such as Aerosmith. The group was very successful, however, Bolton said he got tired of the drinking and drugs that went along with the fame and fortune.

"After awhile, all the band members wanted to do was party," Bolton said. "I wanted to grow up and have a career in the music business. I decided to go solo in 1986."

Bolton's said his first album, Chosen One, was developed as a means to bring positive messages to children to say no to drugs.

"I've been disappointed with the violent music now being played on the airwaves that influences children," Bolton said. "There needs to be more positive music out there they will inspire them to do positive things like staying in school and staying away from drugs."

It was, however, the death of his mother recently that prompted Bolton to make another album and continue with making his music career a success.

"She was such an inspiration to me," Bolton said. "It wasn't until her death that I realized how much her spirituality meant to me. If I can be one-tenth of the person she was, then I will know I've made it."

Bolton's has a music video which has appeared on a PBS rockumentary special. His work has also been seen on other television programs including Kelly and Co. and the Mrs. Michigan event.

"I plan on working with other talented artists in Michigan on another album," Bolton said. "I'm going to solicit tapes from various artists to give other musician an opportunity to record."

The Chosen One can be purchased at various music stores including Rock of Ages in Garden City.

- Terry Bolton

Maria Ertl said she always had a love for music and performing. She hopes to have her own album one day. She said she admires the many talents of Madonna.

Maria Ertl and Terry Bolton met at a club while he was performing. The two are engaged and hope to marry within the year.

Immunization protects children from disease

Children in the Wayne-Westland School District were protected against disease recently at free immunization clinics offered by Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and the Oakwood Family Medical Center in Westland.

More than 700 children were immunized which made this one of the largest programs in the area. The clinics offered shots for: measles, mumps, and rubella (MMR); diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis; polio; and haemophilus influenzae type B.

According to Carla O'Malley, senior vice president and chief operating officer at Annapolis Hospital, immunization is critical for children and is a requirement for admittance to public schools.

"Most childhood diseases could be prevented with proper immunization," O'Malley explained. "That's why this is such an important project."

O'Malley added that Oakwood's mission is to positively impact the health of its community.

"The only way we can do this is if people have access to our services," O'Malley said. "Immunization clinics allow greater access and therefore, allow us to improve the quality of life in our community."

Money gathered by the Bids for Kids program last October paid for the clinics. Approximately $151,000 was raised by the event with funds going to the various health projects including: $12,000 going for transportation for prenatal care; $3,000 for an immunization compliance study; $30,000 for a NorWayne Immunization Fair; $73,000 for a Western Wayne County Early Childhood Wellness Project; and $33,000 for Bids for Kids program expenses.

The 1994 Bids for Kids gala is aiming for a goal of $200,000. The money will benefit youngsters by paying for a pediatrics clinic in the emergency room at Annapolis Hospital and by educating children about safety and first aid.

Classes will be offered at local high schools on Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), baby sitting, teen pregnancy and substance abuse.

"Last year was the first year we did this, and we originally set a goal of $20,000," said Ted Martin, chairman of the Annapolis Foundation Board of Trustees. "But as the excitement grew, we raised our expectations."

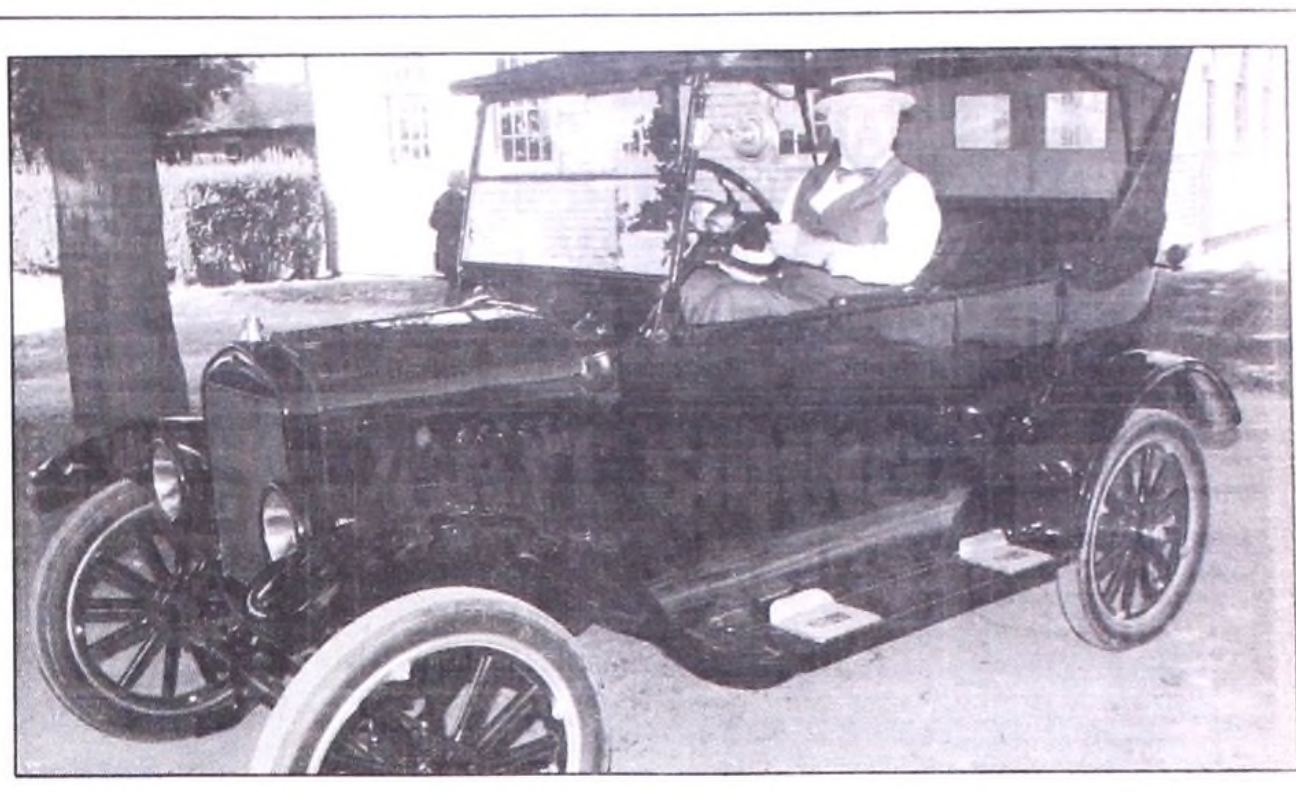

The generosity of the community has been appreciated by those who are directly involved with the immunization that Bids for Kids supported.

"We are grateful for the support of the community," O'Malley said. "It certainly goes without saying how much we need the community behind us and how important our goals are. Nothing could be more important than looking out for children."

Martin added that expectations for the event are again soaring, which means good news for community children.

"Everyone who came last year is truly looking forward to this year's gala," Martin said.

This year Bids for Kids is scheduled for Oct. 14. For more information call 467-2530.

Hospital provides free 'cope' cancer course

A large number of American men, approximately 200,000, will be diagnosed with prostate cancer this year, and some of these men won't survive.

Fortunately, prostate cancer can be cured if diagnosed early. That is why Heritage Hospital is offering free prostate screening exams to men 50 years old or older and to men 40 years old or older who have had a family history of prostate cancer or are African-American.

The screenings will take place 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. Sept. 22 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

The screenings are simple and painless, and they take less than a minute.

Every man 50 years old or older is at risk for developing prostate cancer. One out of every 11 men will get prostate cancer, and for African-Americans the ratio is even less, one out of every nine men.

Appointments for the free screenings are necessary. To register for a free exam contact Annapolis Hospital at 467-5555.

Whether you have cancer or love someone who does, coping with this devastating disease is always difficult. To help cancer patients, their friends and family members deal with the physical and emotional effects of this disease, Annapolis Hospital in Wayne is offering I Can Cope.

The course will take place 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on six consecutive Wednesdays from Oct. 5 through Nov. 9 in the doctors' dining room at Annapolis Hospital, 33155 Annapolis Road in Wayne.

Preregistration is required by Sept. 28. To register, or for more information, call the Annapolis Hospital Social Work Department at 313-467-4365.

RESOLUTION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE TO ESTABLISH PROCEDURES AND GUIDELINES FOR THE CHARGING OF FEES FOR FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT REQUESTS
At the Regular City Council Meeting of September 6, 1994 upon Motion of Councilman Smith and after a vote supporting said Motion by a majority of the Council is hereby resolved as follows:

That to help defray the costs of the City in responding to Freedom of Information Act requests, and to comply with the act's requirements concerning the charging of fees as set forth in MCLA 15.234, the following guidelines and procedures shall be followed in charging fees to requesting parties.

1. Unless excepted by paragraph two below, all requesting parties shall be charged actual mailing costs, actual incremental costs of duplication or publication, including the costs of labor.
2. Copies of public records shall be furnished without charge for the first Twenty Dollars ($20.00) of the fee to an individual who submits an affidavit that he or she is receiving public assistance or stating facts showing an inability to pay the costs because of indigence.
3. No fee shall be charged to a requesting party for the costs of searching, examining, reviewing or deleting and/or separating information exempt from disclosure unless the failure to charge a fee would result in unreasonably high costs to the City because of the nature of the request, and the City specifically identifies the nature of the unreasonably high costs to the requesting party in writing.

4. If the City determines in good faith, that the fee to be charged will exceed Fifty-Dollars ($50.00), then the City shall request a good faith deposit of up to one-half of the total fee at the time the request is made.
5. For every fee which includes labor costs, the cost of labor shall be equal to the hourly wage of the lowest paid, full time, permanent clerical employee of the City.

Driver arrested for hit-and-run

Canton Township police arrested an out-of-town truck driver believed to be responsible for a Sept. 15 accident on Michigan Avenue west of Lilley Road.

According to witnesses, the truck driver struck the car of the 46-year-old Westland victim two times before continuing eastbound on Michigan to Howe Street in Wayne.

When Canton Township and Wayne Police confronted the driver of the semi-truck, they sensed by his unsteadiness and odor that he could have been drinking. The man failed a number of field sobriety tests and refused to take a blood-alcohol test before he was arrested.

A search of the truck turned up two open cans of beer.

Police also observed front end damage to the truck that was consistent with damage to the victim's green Saturn.

Fire routs family from home

Wayne firefighters responded to a Wednesday afternoon fire on Hershey Street and found a mother and her two children outside the home.

There was a heavy accumulation of smoke in the single-story dwelling and fire was showing through the back windows of the house, according to firefighters.

The fire was reported to have started in a bedroom at the rear of the house where an eight-month-old child was napping with the door closed. When the mother smelled smoke, she entered the room and rescued the child. She also saved the second child who was asleep in the living room at the time of the fire.

Both mother and infant suffered smoke inhalation and minor burns. They were transported to Annapolis Hospital where they were treated and released.

Arraignment set in assault

An Oct. 5 arraignment on information has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with felonious assault in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Allen John Serrin, 50, allegedly pointed a shotgun at his neighbor. The incident resulted allegedly because Serrin was upset that the neighbor's grandchild, who was playing ball 5:45 p.m. Sept. 10, had lost the ball and it rolled onto Serrin's property.

"The defendant and the neighbor have backyards that are adjoining," said Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews. "When the ball rolled onto the defendant's lawn, he got upset and started shouting obscenities to the

The fugitive Attempted murderer continues to elude police

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Like magician and world famous escapist Harry Houdini, a 19-year-old Inkster resident has carved out quite a name for himself with his disappearing act.

But Leon Dilworth is not a magician - or world famous. He is an accused felon who is a fugitive from justice for allegedly attempting to take the lives of three Inkster residents.

Dilworth walked out of an Inkster cell last month using another prisoner's name, and he apparently has disappeared into thin air. He is the first person in recent years to escape the local jail.

"We have followed up some leads but they have led to nowhere," said Inkster Detective James Vergona, who is in charge of the investigation. "We need some help on this one."

How Dilworth, who is charged with three counts of attempted murder, made good on his escape is almost as incredible as his continuous ability to elude law enforcement.

Dilworth and a co-defendant, Reginald Taylor, were arrested and charged in a drive-by shooting that apparently was in retaliation of the shooting death of Taylor's mother.

Angela Taylor, 36, was shot-to-death while asleep in the family home on Carlyle Avenue on July 1, 1994 in what police said was a drive-by shooting. No suspects have been arrested, and the case remains open.

Two weeks later, Dilworth and Taylor allegedly were involved in an argument with people who they believe were involved in Mrs. Taylor's death. That argument led to the shooting police believe.

Police arrested Dilworth and Taylor and housed them in separate cells until their examinations. However, before Dilworth made his appearance before 22nd District Court Judge Sylvia James, he managed to escape.

Police believe that Dilworth had the help of a friend.

Dilworth shared a cell with Cedric Booker, an acquaintance of Dilworth's, police said.

Dilworth persuaded Booker, 17, who was in jail because he failed to post a $200 bond for misdemeanor, to allow him to use his name. Then, he got on the cell telephone and asked a friend to come to the police station and post a bond for Booker.

Assault victim queried for drugs

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A Wayne man who will celebrate his 25th birthday on Saturday should consider himself lucky.

Or should he?

While a couple of thugs were beating Timothy Evan Thomas on Tuesday night, an Inkster patrol car happened to be on routine patrol in the area of Henry Street, a high drug-trafficking area in the city of Inkster. The officers spotted the ruckus and immediately rushed to the scene.

The officers arrested three men, one a 30-year-old Inkster resident, and two teenagers who, police said, were kicking the victim while he was down.

Hatcher told police that he was pounced on by the culprits who were in the process of robbing him.

The victim sustained facial and body lacerations.

One of the suspects had in his possession a vial that contained four pieces of suspected rock cocaine, according to Inkster patrolman Paul Martin, who placed the suspects under arrest for violating the Public Health Code.

The substances have been sent to the State Police lab for verification of their content.

In the meantime, while officers were interviewing the alleged victim, they said that they found suspected drug

Haiti invasion halted, Community Baptist Church congregation rejoices

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

By scrubbing the American trade embargo, the negotiated end - or intermission - of the Haiti crisis has raised hopes in Westland.

"Thank God the embargo's over," said the Rev. John Hearn, pastor of the Peoples Community Baptist Church in Westland.

Pastor Hearn expects the agreement between the United States and Haiti to allow his congregation to legally resume sending food, clothing, and money, and provide education and health care to 75 orphans living at the C & S (Caring and Sharing) Mission dormitory in Port-au-Prince.

The mission, founded by Rev. Hearn in 1983, is supported mainly by donations from his congregation and three churches in Detroit. It is one of the few organizations in Haiti founded and operated by African-Americans. However, the embargo, which the United States has pledged to end, crimped Hearn's charitable efforts.

"The intentions of the embargo were good, but it had a reverse effect," Hearn said. "Rather than forcing out the coup leaders, it starved many people. To many it was devastating."

"Prior to the embargo, we were able to ship food and get money through. Once or twice a year, I personally carried over hundreds of pounds of food to the missionary in Port-au-Prince. Now we have boxes of food in our office, sitting here for months, while our children are pretty much naked and have been reduced to one meal a day."

Watching the boxes stack up in the church hallways was doubly difficult for the pastor because, during the

Iacocca gambles with Romulus as a casino site

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

New talk of possible casinos appearing in Romulus was heard this past week involving former Chrysler Corp. chairman Lee Iacocca and Mayor Beverly McAnally.

McAnally has confirmed that talks between officials of Full House Resorts Inc. and her office have occurred, but no deal has been struck.

"We met with Mr. Iacocca in Southfield earlier this summer and discussed a number of options," McAnally said Friday. "We agreed to no deal and are also talking to other big names in the casino industry."

Full House Resorts Inc. is a development company lead by Iacocca and the group already has reportedly signed agreements with four Michigan Indian tribes for a casino development within 30 miles of Detroit.

Any such casino operation would need the approval of Gov. John Engler and the U.S. Department of Interior.

In a recent advisory election, Detroit voters approved inner city and river boat gambling operations, but Engler has blocked such plans for now.

Engler however appeared with McAnally at the Sept. 16 ground-breaking of the Vining Road interchange and was given an extremely warm welcome by the mayor, even though both executives are members of opposing political parties and Engler is currently involved in a re-election campaign with Democrat Howard Wolpe.

It is hoped that the Vining Road interchange will lead to massive development in Romulus and the creation of many new jobs. Talks concerning casinos, a possible Tiger Stadium, a convention center and even a regional family-style amusement park being located on the more than 1,000 acres of city owned land have been heard in recent years.

Both McAnally and city Community Development Director Jane Downing have attended several national and regional casino related seminars in the past two years to learn the process of attracting such casino developments.

While some minor citizen verbal opposition has been raised to potential casinos at past City Council meetings, no major opposition leaders have appeared as yet.

In the meantime, McAnally and council leaders have continued to stress at such meetings that at this time casinos are not allowed by state law in Romulus.

Humane Society benefit draws area residents, best friends

The 6th Annual Michigan Humane Society Fall Mutt March was a big success with more than 366 marchers participating.

The event took place Sept. 17 at Nankin Mills Station in Westland. Residents from throughout the western Wayne County area brought their "best friends" to the five-mile course.

A spokesperson from the Michigan Humane Society stated more than $48,000 was gathered as a result of the benefit. The majority of the funds will go to the cruelty and rescue division.

Each dog who participated received a "I walked my tail off for the Michigan Humane Society" bandanna. Any dog that was adopted from the Michigan Human Society shelter was given a special alumnus ribbon.

Other upcoming Humane Society events include: Bark In The Dark Dance- 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Oct. 7 at the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham; Tail Waggers Bowling-9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 12 at the Woodland Lanes in Livonia; and Santa Paws Photos 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 27 and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dec. 11 at the Westland Shelter.

For more information on any of these events, contact Joanne Berry at 810-852-7420. The Michigan Human Society is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to serving animals since 1877, and operates three full-service shelters and charitable animal hospitals in the metro Detroit area as well as the Paw Pourri gift shop in Royal Oak.

embargo, starving orphans have been hungry for food and sick orphans have been asking for medical supplies.

"To me it's like having your family asking for more than one meal a day," said Hearn. "During the embargo they probably had to eat all of their livestock."

But most if not all council members appear to support possible casinos being located within the city, although several continue to refrain from making public statements on the issue.

Romulus leaders also have held off from guaranteeing that city voters would be offered a chance to express their views in an advisory election, similar to the ones conducted in Detroit in recent years.

McAnally continues to state that while she has some reservations toward casinos in general, so feels that municipalities must find some alternate revenue sources to pay for the heavy cost of government operations today.

"We have been turned down repeatedly by local voters on city millage plans and thus need to explore all other possible revenue avenues. We are seeking agreements on such possibilities that could raise $20 to $25 million a year for the city coffers," McAnally said.

But, the mayor admitted, the next step with the Iacocca forces lies with the former Chrysler chairman himself.

DRUGS

After an exchange of words between the parties, the men got involved in a fight which was interrupted when the officers pulled up.

According to the police report, Thomas admitted to police that he was in the area to purchase crack, but the would-be dealers gave him "wax" and took his money. He said when he realized that the drugs were bad, he challenged the dealers, but they denied that it was "wax". The alleged dealers also refused to return the money.

After an exchange of words between the parties, the men got involved in a fight which was interrupted when the officers pulled up.

Police said that their investigation is continuing. The three men are in the city lockup awaiting arraignment, and police refused to identify them until their official appearance in 22nd District Court.

In the meantime, Thomas was cited for possession of drug paraphernalia and also given a court date.

When the friend arrived at the station with the bond money, a civilian police employee went to the cell block and told Booker that his friend had posted the bond. Instead of Booker walking out of the cell, Dilworth did, after picking up Booker's property, walked out of the station.

And, he has apparently disappeared.

While the search for Dilworth continues, police have now tacked on to Booker's original charge of fleeing and eluding arrest, the additional charge of aiding and abetting a prisoner to escape, which carries up to 10-years if convicted.

The court held the examination for Taylor and found sufficient evidence to bind him over for trial. He was sent downtown to answer to attempted murder. The case will be heard next month in Recorder's Court.

of missionary property; the mission teaches self-sufficiency.

Starvation and poverty are all too common in Haiti because of low wages, high prices, and the 80 percent illiteracy with no public schools, Hearn said. "I've never seen poverty to compare with Haiti's. When you talk about poverty in America, it's based on people not making a certain amount of money. In Haiti people are starving with no light at the end of the tunnel. People live and die without having ever seen a doctor. People are so poor that if you send them seeds, they don't have the hoes to dig. They work all year for 14 cents per hour - it's like slave labor. A teacher makes $60-$70 per month. Yet, since the embargo, a gallon of gasoline costs $38 on the black market and a box of powdered milk costs $29."

For all the hardship they suffer, the orphans are, according to Hearn, hard and creative students and workers.

"They are proud of the candles and flashlights they study by," he said. "They create art from the least things, like a stick of wood."

The orphans' creations, paintings, carvings, and weavings are on display at the Peoples Community Baptist Church, 29745 Annapolis Road.

The prospect of achieving such excellent results and "keeping our children alive" caused the mission to partially evade the embargo, flying in food on Agape Flights, a Florida airline, and bribing authorities to let in food.

"You have to bribe to take in food," he said. "If you take in 1,000 pounds, you have to be kind to them up front or they will cut your milk boxes open. I understand. They are hungry people working for nothing. The whole culture works like that. You have to share."

Besides his charitable work in Haiti, Hearn stays in touch with Haitians in the United States, twice meeting Haitian President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, who was banished by a military coup, and whose restoration has motivated American foreign policy since 1992.

Though not involved in Haitian politics, Hearn credits Aristide with trying to improve the Haitian's standard of living by proposing taxes on the wealthy, who are not taxed, and creating a public school system. "The coup has branded his program communism," said Hearn.

As for Aristide's future, Hearn cannot predict how long Aristide will last.

"At least there's a chance for another democratic election," he said.

Assault charges dropped

Court rules disorderly conduct for man accused of shattering leg

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

A 22-year-old Wayne man charged with four counts of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, unlawful driving away of an automobile and receiving and concealing stolen property more than $100 was found guilty of a lesser charge Sept. 21.

During a waiver trial, Carl Wayne Boone, was found guilty of disorderly person being drunk before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Leonard Townsend.

An Oct. 5 sentencing has been set for Boone. The defendant was accused of driving his vehicle into four people, shattering a Westland man's leg when he allegedly pinned the victim between a building and his car on Jan. 31.

Boone had been removed from the Rock-A-Way Cafe, 34275 Ford Road in Westland, following an altercation.

The fight allegedly started when Boone became angry with his 21-year-old date and slammed her head into a wall. A nearby patron confronted Boone and a fist fight ensued, the victim testified.

Boone somehow managed to obtain the keys to his date's 1990 Ford Mustang before being escorted out of the bar.

Shortly after the man left, Rock-A-Way doorman John Giocomarra testified that he went outside and allegedly told Boone to leave, but soon after returning to the bar he heard "a loud metal bending sound" and went outside to investigate.

The doorman saw Boone standing between two parked cars and when he approached the vehicles he noticed a dent in the rear panel of his friend's Ford Escort, the employee testified.

Giocomarra said he warned the defendant to leave before the vehicle owner discovered the damage.

"I told him there would be an incident if he didn't get out of there," Giocomarra said.

The doorman testified that Boone looked at him, put the car in drive, and while he was attempting to jump to safety, Giocomarra was struck in the leg causing him to land on the hood of the Mustang.

When the doorman returned with the Escort owner, Boone was sitting in the passenger side of a red Mustang parked next to the Escort, Giocomarra testified.

A few minutes later, Giocomarra said, a group of patrons came out of the bar after a customer announced that someone was damaging cars in the parking lot.

Bar employee Don Hendrix, 29, testified that he approached Boone about the car damage and when he asked the defendant if he was responsible for the damage, Boone grabbed the Mustang steering wheel and pulled himself across the seat.

According to Hendrix, Boone started the Mustang when the employee approached the driver's side door and backed up quickly with Hendrix hanging on the car door.

"My arm got stuck inside the car. I was dragged back 10 feet," Hendrix said.

Hendrix fell off the vehicle when it came to a stop and Giocomarra approached the Mustang in an attempt to get the license plate number, according to testimony.

The doorman testified that Boone looked at him, put the car in drive, and while he was attempting to jump to safety, Giocomarra was struck in the leg causing him to land on the hood of the Mustang.

As the Mustang continued forward, Westland resident Gordon Pelto, 28, was struck and pinned between the car and a wall.

Boone then backed up over the parking block, striking a patron's hand and damaging a Mercury Capri and drove off onto Wildwood Road with no lights on, according to testimony.

Pelto was rushed to Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne and then transported to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor where he remained for 15 days recovering from a shattered right leg.

Pelto testified that he will continue to receive medical attention for at least six months.

Giocomarra and two other victims were not seriously injured and were released from local hospitals.

Romulus voters approve a 3-mill tax hike

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A small band of Romulus voters approved the 3 mill tax hike proposal (that actually turned out to be a 2 percent cut for homeowners) last Tuesday by a vote of 795-547.

The Romulus Community School Board offered the tax proposal to eliminate the $1.9 million in district debts and to create funding for future school bus and computer software purchases and training of local teachers.

The tax proposal initially raises the tax rate for all taxpayers by 3 mills, Assistant Superintendent Joel Carr explained, but now homestead tax rates will drop by 5 mi

The bulk of the new tax money will come from local businesses and industry, Carr said, who already have received major tax breaks via the recent Proposal A approval.

Such action creates an overall 2 mill cut in local homeowners' school tax rates.

Carr, who is in charge of district financial programs, will be asking the board Monday night to set the winter tax levels for the district.

The tax changes were set up to give a financial break to homeowners, who have been very supportive of educational needs in recent years, Carr said.

The bulk of the new tax money will come from local businesses and industry, Carr said, who already have received major tax breaks via the recent Proposal A approval.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell, who is beginning his 15th year in Romulus, said, "Local voters continue to impress me with their heavy support for education in this area."

Only three of the district precincts recorded negative votes on the millage proposal.

The were the 20th precinct (absentee ballots) with a vote of 88 yes to 149 no; the fifth precinct (Barth School area) with a total of 30 yes to 40 no and the ninth precinct (Hayti and old Gordinaire School area) with a vote of 19 yes to 20 no.

The heaviest vote totals in favor of the millage were scored in precinct two (Halecreek School) with a vote of 82 yes to 32 no and precinct four (Merriman School) with a vote of 52 yes to seven no.

Only 8.89 percent of the district's 15,101 voters turned out to vote, City Clerk Linda Choate reported.

Applefest features games, dancing

Dancing, games, contests and drawings will highlight the 15th annual Huron Township Applefest on Oct. 1 and 2.

Special foods, crafts, mini-fair and live entertainment also will be featured during the weekend of apple activities.

There also will be apple decorating, a pumpkin drawing and a scarecrow contest...

A parade will officially launch the event at 11 a.m. Saturday, and a schedule of non-stop events will entertain visitors through the weekend.

On Saturday and Sunday, there will be children's games each morning.

Activities will include a 10K Race, a canoe race and a duck race. There also will be apple decorating, a pumpkin drawing and a scarecrow contest, according to organizers of the event.

Although the fun and games are a major part of the two-day event, the focus will be on the fresh-picked apples from Huron Township orchards along with the traditional fall favorites, cider and doughnuts.

Available in abundance this fall are Yellow Delicious, Ida Red, Wines, Rome Beauty, McIntosh, Jonathan, Empire and Red Delicious apples. Along with home-made apple pies and other apple treats, visitors to the event should have plenty of opportunities to enjoy the bounty of the fall harvest.

The event is slated in New Boston, in the Huron River Drive and Sibley Road area.

Regular guy pounds pavement for 8th District State Senate seat

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
MCN Staff Writer

People might think of him as a candidate, but he views himself as just a regular citizen who is sick and tired of the political games being played at the expense of taxpayers.

Loren Bennett, Republican State Senate candidate for the 8th District, spends countless hours each week introducing himself to citizens.

"To me, the absolute legitimate campaign is not a lot of glitzy ads. It's getting out, talking and listening to the people," he said. "I have met thousands of people and I am just so happy when they see me somewhere and remember me."

Bennett's family is also pounding the pavement and introducing their favorite candidate. His wife, Terri, and daughters, Wendy, 15, and Cindy, 10, are supporting him with literature drops and introductions within the district.

"I couldn't think of a better qualified candidate," said Terri Bennett. "I believe in the issues and whether it was Loren Bennett or Joe Smith, I'd be out there supporting him."

"And if he doesn't come through on the issues he speaks of, I'll be out there pounding the street for the next candidate," she continued.

Although campaigning has been rigorous work for Bennett, who also serves as Canton Township clerk, nothing brought as much stress to his life as watching a long-time friend slowly fade out of his life.

Bennett grew up with Doug Peterson, a former Livonia police officer and Plymouth resident.

"One year before I started my campaign, he had a stroke," said Bennett. "But my friend told me to go forward with the campaign and he even helped, as long as he could."

As the campaign progressed however, Peterson's condition worsened.

"At the end of every day, I'd go sit with him at St. Joe's Hospital. Sometimes I would not get there until midnight," he said while searching the floor for strength. "I would tell him about the campaign."

After the Aug. 2 primary, Bennett was advanced to the general election and Peterson was transported to his parents' house, where he would live out

"I believe in the issues."

Loren Bennett

Loren Bennett

the rest of his days.

"All of his friends and family set up a rotation schedule to care for him at home," said the man. "Hospice had come in to show us how to help."

On the final night, Bennett woke at 4 a.m. to give his friend the necessary medicine.

"I told him it was OK to leave us behind. That he did not have to hold on for us, and when I woke an hour later, he was gone," said Bennett.

While his friend's death has affected the candidate, Bennett said it has only made him more determined and committed to the people.

"It's important to me not to win or lose, but to do the best I can, because I would not want Doug to be disappointed. My biggest fear is letting people down," he said.

Bennett is careful to remember the people he is trying to represent as well as the people he already does represent as clerk. Most importantly, however, he remembers the people in his life.

"When Loren decided to do this, he came to the family unit and said 'this is what I want to do," said Terri Bennett. "He needed 100 percent and he got it."

The challenge for the Bennett family is working toward a successful candidacy while maintaining some sort of normalcy in their children's lives.

"We may not have lives, but our children do," said Terri Bennett. "Wendy has her friends and Cindy has soccer. Speaking of which, Loren can you take Cindy to soccer practice today?"

"I can't because I've got a flat tire," he said to his wife. "See we've got the same problems as everyone else," he concluded.

Cops closer to nabbing bank robbery suspects

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
MCN Staff Writer

Local and federal authorities could be getting one step closer to nabbing the suspects involved with a Sept. 14 bank robbery and carjacking.

According to Canton Township Community Relations Officer Tammie Colling, "the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) believes the people who robbed Standard Federal in Canton have taken part in other bank robberies throughout the Metro Detroit area over the past year. They are now offering an $8,000 reward."

"No shots were fired in either incident."

Tammie Colling

Two black men pulled up to the door of the bank, at 44101 Ford Road, just after 2 p.m., Canton Township police said. One of the men, between 6-feet and 6-feet 4-inches tall, entered the bank and waived a black, semi-automatic handgun as he announced the hold up.

The second man, described as approximately 130 pounds and 19 years of age, followed him in with a long-barreled gun and grabbed the bank manager out of her office.

The men then ordered the tellers, one by one, to empty their registers into a dark, garbage bag while one gunman held the manager hostage. After retrieving all the money, the men fled the scene in a beige Mercury Sable south on Elmhurst.

"We believe they took Elmhurst, which runs along the west side of the bank, to Saltz to Lilley, where they dropped off the car in Bedford Villas," said Colling. "We believe they had their own car there or had a car (and an accomplice) waiting for them."

Both men were wearing gas masks and surgical gloves during the incident, obscuring their identity. Authorities are hoping to learn more about their identity from fingerprints left inside the vehicle stolen from a Kmart parking lot in Westland.

According to reports from Westland Police Department, the stolen car was entered into lien after the 76-year-old registered owner reported it stolen in the area of Wayne and Cherry Hill.

The woman was sitting in her car when a man, approximately 5-feet 7-inches, entered her vehicle through the unlocked passenger door and instructed her to grab her purse and get out of the car, police said.

When the victim motioned for her car keys, the man reportedly grabbed them from her and repeated the order.

No shots were fired in either incident, said authorities. No one was injured.

Anyone with any information about the stolen vehicle, parked in spot 201, or the robbery is encouraged to contact Canton Township police at 397-3000 or the FBI at 313-965-2323.
